Red Monkey Foods Spices Up Its Manufacturing Process with ProcessPro[®] Premier

St. Cloud, Minn., February 16, 2010 -- This young but growing spice company started its roots in a small old milk barn in 2002. Today, Red Monkey Foods is manufacturing its wide array of herbs, spices, blends, grinders, and extracts from a 40,000 square foot manufacturing and warehouse facility in Mt. Vernon, Missouri. The founder, Jeff Brinkhoff, is driven by his philosophy that food should be: healthy, high quality, flavorful, and fun.

Brinkhoff understood that health-minded consumers were looking for natural products that were both high quality and flavorful. The Quality Control application of the ProcessPro[®] ERP system is a very specific tool designed to meet Red Monkey's high quality standards.

"Red Monkey Foods has a vast number of different products, each with its own formula and packaging instructions," says Mat Jahnke, Business Development Representative, ProcessPro. "The QC application in ProcessPro[®] software provides tailored instructions for each of those formulas and packaged products."

Quality Control is a necessity for most process manufacturers due to cGMP and other quality regulations. But that's not the only advantage of ProcessPro[®] Premier. In addition to the Quality Control features of ProcessPro[®] software, Red Monkey Foods will also benefit from the Inventory Control, Material Requirements Planning, Bill of Materials, and other applications.

ProcessPro[®] Premier is a fully integrated, real time ERP that offers a complete system from beginning sales order entry through the manufacturing and accounting process. A fully integrated system is a key tool for companies seeking "industry best practices" standards.
